WRWA HOSTS ANNUAL WEST SPRINGFIELD FISH LADDER OPEN HOUSE Sunday, June 3, 2012

The Westfield River Watershed Association is hosting the annual open house at the West Springfield fish ladder located on the Westfield River on Sunday, June 5 from 10:00 am to 3:00 pm. The fish ladder, opened in 1995 at the large dam on the site, provides access to upstream waters for migratory fish. An underwater viewing window offers viewers a chance to see fish returning to the river and its tributaries to spawn. Species that may be spotted include American shad, Atlantic salmon, sea lamprey and blueback herring. Experienced guides will explain the operation of the fish ladder and offer insights into the life cycles of the fish. During the 2011 migration season, the 15th year that the West Springfield fish ladder was in operation, the Mass. Division of Fisheries and Wildlife reported that migrating or anadromous species that were passed upstream included 5,029 American shad, 1,509 sea lamprey and 7 American eel. Nine Atlantic salmon were trapped and transported to the US Fish and Wildlife salmon station in Sunderland, Mass. Non-anadromous species documented passing upstream included white sucker, brook trout, brown trout, rainbow trout, tiger trout and small-mouth bass. So far this spring, as of May 21, 5,802 American shad, 176 gizzard shad and 238 sea lampreys have been counted, but no salmon yet. Check out http://www.fws.gov/r5crc/fish/daily.html to follow this year's numbers. This once-a-year chance to visit the fish ladder is free to the public. Parking is available in the former Southworth Paper

Company parking lot at 150 Front Street in West Springfield. A half-mile-long, flat path leads from the parking lot to the dam where the fish ladder is located. The event will be held rain or shine. flat path leads from the parking lot to the dam where the fish ladder is located. The event will be held rain or shine. Agawam Small Business Assistance Center Seeks Volunteers to Assist with New Business

The Agawam Small Business Assistance Center has announced that they are looking for additional volunteers to staff their office in the Agawam City Hall to assist with new business in the Valley. The Center was launched in January 2002, through the combined efforts of Mayor Cohen, the City of Agawam and the Springfield Technical Community College Enterprise Center. The Center fosters economic growth and client education by providing free professional counseling, workshops and other supportive services to area entrepreneurs who want to start or improve their businesses in Agawam and the surrounding communities. During its ten years of operation, the center has received hundreds of requests for counseling on such subjects as: starting up; business loans; marketing and sales; accounting; taxes; human resources; inventory control; employee training; technology, computer systems, legal direction and business planning. Counseling is provided by SCORE, and is held on an appointment basis. The ASBAC is seeking enthusiastic, motivated members of the business community to serve a few hours per month to answer phones, direct new business people to the center's appropriate contacts and other related duties. Many of the volunteers are retired from the business community or currently in business within the region. You do not have to be an Agawam resident to volunteer. If you are interested in being a part of this important business resource please call Debra Dachos, Director of Planning and Community Development at the Agawam Small Business Assistance Center. NUTRITIONAL TIPS FOR PEOPLE WHO SUFFER WITH A SPRAIN/STRAIN OR SOFT-TISSUE INJURY

- DON'T STOP TAKING MULTI-VITAMINS! WHEN WE ARE INJURED, OUR REQUIREMENTS FOR NUTRIENTS INCREASE. OFTEN TIMES
 MANY PEOPLE STOP TAKING VITAMINS AT A TIME WHEN THEY NEED THEM THE MOST. DON'T MAKE THAT ERROR, CONTINUE WITH A GOOD MULTIVITAMIN OR MAKE SURE TO EAT FOODS THAT ARE FORTIFIED IN VITAMINS (CEREALS, PROTEIN DRINKS, SMOOTHIES OR SPORTS BARS) AT LEAST ONCE PER DAY.
- TAKE EXTRA VITAMIN C! VITAMIN C IS NOT ONLY GOOD FOR COLDS OR INFECTIONS, BUT GOOD FOR INJURIES TOO. FOR A BASIC SPRAIN/STRAIN/ CONTUSION/INFLAMMATORY-TYPE TRAUMA, START WITH APPROXIMATELY 10 MG PER POUND OF BODY WEIGHT IN DIVIDED DOSES WITH MEALS. FOR EXAMPLE, A 140-150 LB PERSON WOULD TAKE 500 MG THREE TIMES PER DAY WHILE THEY RECOVER FROM INJURY. TRY TO PURCHASE VITAMIN C THAT INCLUDE BIOFLAVONOIDS (AT LEAST 50 MG FOR EACH 500 MG OF VITAMIN C), WHICH HELPS REDUCE INFLAMMATION AND REPAIR DAMAGED TISSUE.
- DRINK TWO EXTRA GLASSES OF WATER OVER WHAT IS NORMALLY CONSUMED
- EAT PROTEIN THREE TIMES PER DAY APPROXIMATELY .75 GRAMS OF PROTEIN PER POUND OF BODY-WEIGHT SATISFIES THE EXTRA REQUIREMENTS DURING TIMES OF INJURY. THIS IS ALSO WHAT IS NEEDED FOR PEOPLE WHO ARE EITHER HEAVY EXERCISERS OR PARTICIPATE IN ATHLETIC COMPETITIONS AND TRAINING.
- MAINTAIN YOUR WEIGHT IF YOU ARE ON A WEIGHT-LOSS DIET AND GET INJURED, FREEZE YOUR FOOD INTAKE AT A LEVEL THAT WILL CAUSE NEITHER WEIGHT GAIN OR LOSS. WEIGHT LOSS CAN STRESS A SYSTEM THAT IS ALREADY STRESSED CAN LEAD TO PROLONGED HEALING TIMES. ONCE YOU FEEL BETTER, YOU CAN DECREASE CALORIC INTAKE AND RESUME THE DIET.

IF YOU ARE INJURED, TAKE THE TIME TO HEAL PROPERLY, IN THE LONG RUN IT IS WELL WORTH YOUR TIME!! (Thanks to G. Douglas Anderson, a chiropractor who writes in the Dynamic Chiropractic magazine).

Legal Memo by Attorney Alan L. Ferrigno 36 Years Professional Experience Motorcyclist Slams Face-First Into Side of Swerving Car

The 37 year-old plaintiff was driving his motorcycle when the defendant, who was operating a company owned car, swerved into his lane and caused him to crash into the side of the car. The plaintiff suffered major facial fractures, a concussion, blindness in one eye and numerous orthopedic injuries. He underwent two facial reconstruction surgeries, and although he was left with no major facial disfigurement, his left optic nerve was damaged in the course of one of the surgeries, leaving him legally blind in that eye. The plaintiff, a high school graduate, was earning approximately $95,000.00 a year as a network engineer at the time of the collision. While he is unable to return to his vocation due to his injuries, it is likely that he will be able to work in some capacity. The degree of his loss of earning capacity was disputed by the parties. A neuropsychologist diagnosed the plaintiff with mild cognitive deficits. The diagnosis was disputed by the defendant's expert, who was prepared to testify that there was no evidence that he suffered from any cognitive deficits. The plaintiff also underwent arthroscopic surgeries on his shoulder for a torn labrum and his ankle for nerve pain, which persisted for some time after the collision. He also suffered from depression, which rendered him unable to resume his career and engage in recreational activities. He is able to drive a car, exercise at a gym, live independently, do household chores such as minor yard work and, cleaning, and cooking, and care for his daily needs. The case settled at the end of an all day mediation two weeks before the scheduled trial dated.

Plaintiff's settlement: $3.75 million

Variety is the spice of life, and of fundraising events

Annual Fundraising Event for Agawam Cultural Council's "Give Back to the Community Program" to feature Variety Show format.

(Agawam, Mass.) After hosting musical concerts for the past several years to raise funds for its "Give Back to the Community Program", the Agawam Cultural Council is presenting something new – in the form of a variety show. The show is scheduled for Sunday, October 14, 2012 from 2-4 PM at the Agawam Senior Center located at 954 Main Street, Agawam and will feature "something for everyone." Doors will open at 1:15 PM, with general seating. Directing the show will be veteran performers Marilene Allen and Lyle Pearson, co-directors of Feeding Hills' Red Door Theatre. The duo is assembling a roster of performers, from singers, dancers, and instrumentalists to puppeteers, magicians, and mimes. Admission is $12 for adults, $10 for seniors, and $5 for children. Tickets will go on sale July 1, 2012 and will be available at the Agawam Cultural Council booth at Agawam's popular SummerFest concert series held at Veterans Green. Tickets will also be available by calling Andrea LaPlace at 413-786-6753 or by mail to Agawam Cultural Council, Agawam Town Hall, 36 Main Street, Agawam, MA 01001, Attention: Benefit Show (please include a self-addressed, stamped envelope). Please request wheelchair seating when ordering tickets. Beginning September 19, 2012, tickets will also be available at the Agawam Senior Center on Wednesdays and Thursdays from 10:30am-12:30pm. In 2011, the Agawam Cultural Council's Give Back to the Community Program made possible: a writing contest open to all Agawam residents with prizes in all six categories; a full stage production of Macbeth by Shakespeare & Co. at the Agawam High School for students and the public; Springfield Symphony Orchestra's Musical Petting Zoo presented to kindergarten students at each of Agawam's Elementary Schools; the Applause Series - monthly events from September to May, free and open to the public, featuring a variety of performers; tickets to Majestic Theater Summer Programs for children participating in an Agawam Public Library-held contest, donations to the Agawam Public Library, Captain Charles Leonard House, the Friends of the Agawam Public Library Art and Photo Shows, and PVJFF, and giveaways for children at Agawam's SummerFest concert series. For more information visit the Agawam Cultural Council website, www.agawamcc.org The Agawam Cultural Council is an all-volunteer local partner of the Massachusetts Cultural Council, a state agency, and is funded, in part, by the MCC. The ACC is charged with bringing engaging, entertaining, and educational events and opportunities in the arts, humanities, and sciences, to children and adults from Agawam and the surrounding communities.

PHOTO CAPTION: Marilene Allen and Lyle Pearsons (far right), co-directors of Feeding Hills's Red Door Theatre, will bring their special brand of variety show entertainment to the Agawam Senior Center, 954 Main Street, Agawam, on Sunday, October 14, 2012. The show promises "something for everyone" and will benefit the Agawam Cultural Council's "Give Back to the Community Program".

By Nova Bonzek

Here's something to do the next time you clean out your basement, attic or garage. You can help other people out, while lessening the clutter. Most of us have items that are in good shape, but for whatever reason we don't use them any more. Some may have been gifts, or purchases we made that sounded good at the time, but just didn't pan out. Also, sometimes there are items we need or would like to have but don't want to pay high prices. Maybe they just haven't come down enough to fit our budget, or haven't yet been on sale. There's an answer to both situations: Freecycle. This is a site is similar to Craigslist or other want-ad sites, but with a nice twist – everything's free! So instead of putting that old television, computer screen or exercise equipment that's just taking up space, we can do better than putting these items out on the tree belt for trash collection. We can not only recycle - but Freecycle! It's true that in some cases when we place things out for the trash, someone comes by and takes the items. In other cases, scrappers looking for metal might ignore a perfectly good TV and just cut the cord for the small amount of copper inside. It seems a terrible waste either way. Recycling, where possible is an excellent alternative. Some people just don't have the time to have yard sales, or may not be able to have them as often as they like. Or they may have one, but still be left with a lot of items they'd hoped would sell. Post an ad on freecycle.org, and problem solved! Most items go within a day or two, depending on demand, of course. You can exchange private emails and only give pickup information to people you trust. You do not need to publicly post your personal address. However, if you want a certain person to pick up items on your tree belt, you can private message them that information. Also you may post items you would like to obtain free, rather than buy them new, which ultimately creates waste in the long run. These things do add up over time, and with so many people dumping perfectly good items, it really adds up. So it's important to do our part to prevent unnecessary waste. If you believe that items that still function properly and may still have years of use, Freecycle is for you. If you want to help the environment by creating less waste, freecycle is an excellent choice. The site is set up according to locations, and there are usually a few to pick from in surrounding towns. Living in a consumer society trying to go "green," sites and services like Freecycle are indispensable. Posting, viewing and replying to ads is free, as is sign up. Check it out today: freecycle.org you'll be doing your part by helping the environment, and also doing good deeds for someone else in need. Pay it forward..

Coffee House for Cool Cats Joins Lovers of Cats and Music Together at Agawam Senior Center

Darcy Davis made presentation on the history of the bugle

THANK YOU ALL WHO CONTRIBUTED TO OR ATTENDED Coffee House for Cool Cats, held at Agawam Senior Center on May 18th to benefit Agawam Friends of Homeless Cats, which attracted several cat lovers as well as music fans. The music could not have been better, starting out with Ruth Carr on piano and followed up with great harmonies and song selections by What's the Buzz, who also donated the use of their sound system for the benefit of all musicians. Al Rosatti sang The Cat Came Back and performed backup guitar for several duets and solos. Karl Knapp played guitar and sang, accompanied by Darcy Davis on trumpet. Jack Yourous pulled out some well-known songs, such as This is For All The Lonely People. Sunshine on My Shoulder and That Lucky Old Sun, accompanied by guitar, were sung by Joan Linnehan and Kate Shepard, and Summer Song was performed by Sande Linder and Kate Shepard. Mark Grimaldi made his first public performance singing The Dolphin Song, accompanied by guitar. Video was taken by Nova Bonzek. Green Mountain donated the coffee. Joan Linnehan contributed tambourine to many songs and donated cookies, milk, sugar, cat-themed balloons, and her efficiency in setup and cleanup. Thanks to all who helped bring equipment and bags of cat food to the cars and thanks for a healthy supply of donated cat food. Help from Kathy Meyer at the door rounded out this relaxing and enjoyable evening. Check out the great performances on You Tube at http://www.youtube.com/user/friendshomelesscats?feature=mhee

Who says cats have bad taste in television?

In a press release from the Office of Planning and Community Development, It was recently announced that Michael Morassi stepped down from his position on the Agawam Planning Board at the May 17th meeting. Morassi has served on the Planning Board for eight years. He cited additional time commitments due to his new job and family. Mayor Richard Cohen presented him with a citation in recognition of his years of service and thanked him for his commitment and loyalty to his community and dedicated years of service. Morassi attended close to two hundred meetings and has acted on twelve new residential subdivisions, the completion of the Agawam Regional Industrial Park, the Agawam Senior Center and new commercial developments such as Agawam Crossing, CVS, Easthampton Savings Bank, McDonalds, and the long awaited Feeding Hills Wendy's. Deborah Dachos, Director of Planning and Community Development, said, "Michael has been a pleasure to work with. He served as the Liaison between the Planning Board and the Engineering Department, requiring many hours of meetings to discuss the technical details relating to new projects. The Board relied on his regular updates and deep understanding of each project. He will be genuinely missed." Morassi is a lifelong resident of Agawam, has been married to wife Anna for twenty-four years, and has three children. Morassi reflected, "Back nine years ago I wanted to serve the town as something other than a resident and coach. I decided that the best fit for my background in sales and engineering would be the Planning Board. It provided me the opportunity to help balance the need for responsible growth through the addition of residential housing, business development, and other areas while ensuring the preservation of Agawam's small town character. The Planning Board is supported by a great professional staff including (but not limited to) the Office of Planning and Community Development, Inspections Services, Engineering, DPW, the Mayor's Office, and the list goes on. I thank everyone for the opportunity and privilege to serve this great town.

STORROWTON VILLAGE TO HOST INTERACTIVE TOUR: STORROWTON AND THE CIVIL WAR

Storrowton Village will present an interactive, educational tour titled Storrowton and the Civil War, Tuesday, June 12 from 6-7 p.m., offering an inside look at how folks in the northeast coped with the Civil War and the absence of our men who were called to duty or joined the patriotic fervor. Participants will meet "townspeople" and hear their personal stories and points of view regarding the Civil War. Storrowton Village volunteers will be portraying the characters of the time as our visitors travel through the Village's historic buildings meeting residents, shopkeepers, farmers, family members, and tradesmen along the way, all with information and their own experiences to share. The tour will begin in the Storrowton Village Meetinghouse with an abolitionist, an advocate for ending slavery in the U.S., delivering a speech, and will then move to the Blacksmith Shop where folks will learn about job opportunities and the increase in manufacturing during the war and how that impacted tradesmen. Continuing on to the parlor of Potter Mansion, visitors will gain insight into the women's efforts to support troops through sewing and making clothing, which was in scarce supply. The next stop will be the Potter General Store for an ear on a conversation between a shopkeeper and customer about the separation of the southern states, lack of cotton textiles, and how suppliers and consumers from both the North and South were affected. The tour concludes in Gilbert Farmstead, where the group will experience the family's preparation for the wake of one of their members who died while in service to his country. The storytelling tour recognizes the 150th anniversary of the beginning of the Civil War. Those who are intrigued and fascinated by Civil War history and want to learn more about life during this period, are urged to attend this unique and educational learning experience. Storrowton Village plans to present four such programs each year. Reservations are required and the price to attend is $7 per person. Please note: The program contains vivid descriptions of wartime violence and injury that may not be suitable for young audiences. Those interested may call the Village at 413-205-5051 or email storrow@TheBigE.com for more information.

DONALD WILSON RECIPIENT OF BIG E AGRICULTURAL ADVENTURERS AWARD

The New England Fellowship of Agricultural Adventurers presented Donald Wilson, of Lexington, Mass., treasurer of Wilson Farm, with the 2012 Agricultural Adventurers Award at the Annual Meeting of Eastern States Exposition, May 17, in West Springfield, Mass. Wilson is a member of the third generation to operate the 128-year-old Wilson Farm, with farm stands in Lexington, Mass., and Litchfield, New Hampshire offering a myriad of vegetables and flowers as well as incorporating a bakery, butcher shop, seafood counter, cheese shop and grocery department. The family farms over 500 acres of land, produces over 125 different crops year-round and is the epitome of "locally grown." While the term "locavore" was coined in 2005, this farm has understood the value of locally grown produce since 1884 when the patriarch of the family, James Alexander Wilson arrived in the United States from Enniskillen, Ireland. He rented 16 acres of land to raise pigs and vegetables and establish an orchard. Donald Wilson and his late cousin Alan grew Wilson Farm to the successful, multi-dimensional agricultural entity it is today. After Alan's death two years ago, his son Scott assumed the role of president overseeing purchasing and sales. Donald continues as treasurer and travels to New Hampshire daily to run the farm stand and crop production, while his son, Jim, leads the production end of the business, following in his father's footsteps. Today, the Lexington Farm stand contains 36 acres. In 1956, Wilson Farm purchased the 150-acre Parker Farm in Litchfield, New Hampshire, and later acquired other parcels that now total 600 acres, 400 of which are cropland. With its 200 full and parttime employees, Wilson Farm produces over 100 different varieties of fruits, vegetables and herbs, and much of its seasonal crop is sold within hours of being harvested. Wilson Farm has grown to become a "foodie haven," bursting at the seams with not only perfect produce, but delicious cheeses, farm-fresh milk and eggs, gorgeous cut flowers, fine meats and freshly caught fish, homemade dishes from its kitchen and fresh baked bread and decadent desserts in its bakery. Everything is either grown, baked or prepared on the premises. The grocery department offers glass-bottled milk, jams, nuts, trail mixes, dried pastas, candies, chocolates, old-fashioned soda pop, citrus juices, fruit beverages, health cereals, granola, real maple syrup, butter and cream cheese. They also offer taco ingredients, salad dressings, marinades, sauces, and more. A large greenhouse produces plants year-round for retail and wholesale outlets and they receive a nightly delivery of fresh flowers at Logan Airport for distribution to many large grocery chains throughout the area. They supply 450 shares in their Community Supported Agriculture and have 100 families on a waiting list. Any produce left over from CSA goes to their local food kitchen.

A community leader, Wilson has served on the Lexington Housing Board for 28 years where he spent six years as chairman, is a member of the Rotary Club of Lexington and received the coveted Paul Harris Fellowship distinction twice. He spent many years as a town meeting member, is a Farm Bureau board member, a board member and past president of United Cooperative Farmers, and is past president of the Massachusetts Agricultural Club. He has served as a trustee of Eastern States Exposition since 1977, is a member and past president of New England Vegetable Growers, and has served as a director of four banks. Five years ago, he founded (with two partners) Patriot Community Bank in Woburn, Mass., where he serves as Chairman. Wilson Farm received the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce Small Business Award in 1992 and Wilson was voted Outstanding Citizen in Lexington, Mass., in 2002.

Information on the farm and all it has to offer is available at www.wilsonfarm.com. Since 1953, the Fellowship of Agricultural Adventurers has honored outstanding leaders in New England agriculture. A special committee, appointed by the trustees of Eastern States Exposition, selects its annual fellow on the basis of innovation, pioneering and lifetime dedication to the betterment of agriculture. The Big E takes place September 14–30, 2012 in West Springfield, Mass.
